Learn a New Way of Thinking

During the weeklong McGuire Summer Academy, high school juniors and seniors will work in teams to develop an idea from concept to business plan. University faculty, business professionals, entrepreneurs, and university students teach collaborative, hands-on lessons in a state-of-the-art learning lab, and on field trips to startups and innovative companies.

Summer Academy students stay at University of Arizona residence halls for the week. The experience culminates in a “Shark Tank” event where student teams present their new venture ideas to a panel of judges and compete for cash prizes.
